Dear Faithful Friends and Prayer Partners,

Missionary Updates

Most of Bob and Juanita Warinner’s ministry is close to home now. Their family do not live in Oshkosh, so their travels are usually family related, such as this spring when they will attend some family weddings. Please pray for safe and trouble-free trips. Bart and Nancy Case also do not have all of their children nearby but were recently able to travel to see them. Bart is currently on a ministry trip to Laredo, Texas, where Kelle Hein passed away last year. Terry Rushing is working in the hangar, presenting the Wings ministry in churches, and caring for his parents. Sarah Rushing just returned from visiting her mother in North Carolina. Sam and Abby Sanderlin have seen God’s hand leading them as they begin learning French in anticipation of their return to the French speaking districts of Cameroon. Pray for Sam as he continues to help his widowed mother with her own transition. Samuel and Kim Coman are adjusting to having two children under their roof while scheduling meetings to raise their own support. Please pray for their growing family. During this season of maintenance we are preparing for upcoming mission trips and also witnessing for Christ here in Oshkosh. Samuel Coman had the blessing of leading a young man to Christ after church. We have shared Christ with Alex at the hangar and Brad, Doug, and Mike at Terry’s house. May God use us to lead many to Him!

Maintenance Help

The annual inspections are finally complete on Wings’ Piper Chieftain and Cessna 172 aircraft. This year a number of men volunteered who have located near Oshkosh to pursue further aviation training or jobs in aircraft maintenance and who also have a desire to serve the Lord in or near missionary aviation as future missionaries or laymen. We are so grateful for these men and their investment, whether large or small, in the Wings ministry. Indeed it takes an army of folks to keep Wings flying and serving the Lord.

We have another aircraft needing repair that could be a longer term project, and some of these local mechanics may be able to gain experience preparing a plane for the Lord’s use. We often say that Wings is not primarily a maintenance ministry, but maintenance is necessary to keep aircraft flying safely for taking mission teams that you may fly on!

Flight Training Vision

Wings’ vision to provide training for pilot missionaries is slowly taking off. Local volunteers have filled the need for flight instruction, and other instructors have volunteered during the annual Flight Camp. Our Wings family has been praying for some time for the Lord to provide a man to join our crew to fill the need for a dedicated long-term flight instructor. Over the years many young people have contacted Wings seeking both opportunities and training in missionary aviation. Although other ministries around the country have a similar vision for this growing interest to serve the Lord using aviation as a means of taking the gospel, we feel that the Lord is uniquely developing Wings to fill that need. Would you please pray with us that God would send his man that could develop this needed aspect of ministry? This individual would need to provide or raise his own support and would also be involved in the various facets of Wings’ evangelistic aviation ministry.

Thank you so much for partnering with us in prayer and support! Yes, we need prayer for our support, but even more for souls to be saved as we take Christ to a lost world both on our mission trips and at home!
