Camp speaker Ron Vander Hart
ministering to flight campers

September 2017

Last month we hosted our fifteenth annual Wings Flight Camp with sixteen campers in attendance. This was the largest group of campers we have had, with young men from California, Oregon, New Mexico, Texas, Arkansas, Wisconsin, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Florida, as well as Canada and Ghana, Africa. We praise the Lord for parents who are willing to sacrifice to send their boys to Flight Camp.

Brother Paul Bach, missionary to Alaska, joined us for the first time as a flight instructor. Brother Jerry Clark, from Philips, Wisconsin, provided his airplane, as well as flight instruction. Pastor Ron Vander Hart, from Iowa, was our camp speaker. Brother Vander Hart preached timely messages with focused truths to challenge the campers. Missionary Sam Sanderlin, missionary church planter and pilot in Cameroon, was our missions class speaker. Brother Sanderlin focused on the practical aspect of missionary work and missionary life.

Fox Valley Technical College (FVTC) in Oshkosh allows us to use their aviation center, which includes labs, classrooms, simulators, and hangar, for various aviation instruction purposes each year. Brother Gene Zastera is on faculty at the school, and the Lord used him to open this door of opportunity, and he continues to use his skills and experience to teach our campers. The faculty is always impressed with the conduct, attitude, and politeness of our campers, and we praise the Lord for the use of these wonderful facilities and for the effective testimony that we have had to FVTC.

Flight camp is always busy and constantly moving. We start the morning with group devotions and breakfast. Next we travel to the hangar for flying instruction and then to FVTC for aviation classes. We return to the hangar for lunch and afternoon missions classes. The campers have some free time in the afternoon before supper. After supper we return to the hangar for evening chapel, which is always an uplifting time in the Lord. We sing many hymns and share testimonies, preparing hearts for the Word of God. Wings' staff strive to create a proper environment for the Holy Spirit to have freedom to work, and God never disappoints!

Flight time includes about three hours every day that weather permits, utilizing two planes and two instructors. Each young man flies left seat with an instructor while other campers ride along. All flight time is noted in official log books and signed off by the instructors. Many of our campers have never flown before, while others have some flight experience, and we tailor the instruction to meet the individual experience and need of each camper.

At the end of the week we travel to a local farm and have a cookout and game time for the campers. This allows the young men to have some relaxation and be involved in unique activities, as well as hear a closing message from our camp speaker. The awards ceremony follows, where every camper receives a certificate of attendance, and three special awards are presented: Campers' Choice Award (chosen by the campers for kindness, helpfulness, etc.), Character Award, and Captain's Award (for overall testimony). What a blessing and encouragement it is to see young men demonstrating a heart to obey and serve God!

Various ladies from the church also assist the Wings ladies with camp meals during the week. These ladies labor many hours to provide nutritious and delicious meals. It is amazing how the Lord puts our staff together and provides for the needs of our flight camp.

For the Wings Crew,
Barton C. Case
